ALBANIA: Himni i Flamurit (Hymn to the Flag)

Albania (officially The Republic of Albania) is bordered by Greece, Montenegro, Kosovo, and the Republic of Macedonia. Lying on the coast of the Adriatic Sea, it is only 45 miles (72 kms) across the water from Italy. Albania is a parliamentary democracy and the capital Tirana, has a population of just under 900,00. The country is a member of several international organisations, including the United Nations, the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, the Council of Europe, and the World Trade Organisation.

"Hymni i Flamurit" (Hymn to the Flag) was adopted in 1912, when Albania gained independence from Italy. The text was written by the Albanian poet known as Asdreni (an acronym for Aleks Stavre Drenova) (1872-1947). The text was first published as a poem in an Albanian newspaper in Sofia, Bulgaria in 1912.

The music of the anthem was composed by the Romanian composer Ciprian Porumbescu. He was born in the former Austrian province of Bukovina and as a young man studied music in Suceava and Cernăuți. He continued his studies at the Music Conservatoire in Vienna under Anton Bruckner and Franz Krenn. He eventually became one of the most celebrated Romanian composers of his time and was also a distinguished conductor, violinist, and pianist. He also wrote poetry and press articles, and actively participated in public cultural life. Ciprian Porumbescu left a legacy of more than 250 works, bringing him fame and popularity throughout his short life. His most well-known works include the Ballad for Violin and Orchestra (1880) and the Romanian Rhapsody (1882).
